2021-2022

FISCAL YEAR 21-22 IN REVIEW

In times of change, things can get lost. South Valley Services has experienced great change this past year. But, we never got lost. During the fiscal year '22, SVS experienced several leadership changes and with the support of our dedicated board, SVS staff continued to be accessible and responsive to survivor needs during a time of transition. We are grateful those efforts ensured hundreds of survivors had a place to turn and support to lean on.

It is my honor and privilege to have joined South Valley Services as the new Executive Director in May of 2022. As I took my place of leadership, I was struck by how this organization carried on in spite of the changes - big and small - to support survivors of domestic and sexual violence when they needed it most. I knew then that I had a strong team before me, and together we will achieve great things ahead. We hit the ground running and in only the two months left in the fiscal year, we began a new era at SVS.

In closing, I want to extend gratitude and recognition to a dedicated board of directors, led by past Chair, Jeff Stott, for their leadership that supported a successful transition, allowing SVS to do what it does best, serving its community and surrounding area.

A SURVIVOR'S STORY

"SVS staff developed a much needed safety plan for me which literally saved me and my family while fleeing a dangerous situation. They are not afraid to face fear. From shelter experience to current, the SVS team has remained calm, cool, and collected. They helped my family and me learn we can do hard things despite the odds. They taught us a "can do" attitude and provided much needed community resource assistance. Thanks to their efforts, the future looks much brighter.

"Weekly case management, goal setting, and teamwork helped me accomplish the unthinkable. The road has not been easy, but it is drivable with SVS staff support. They've assisted me from homelessness to empowerment with strength to face various situations. I am grateful for their unconditional love, kindness, compassion and great positivity.

"SVS staff have shown consistent, dedicated efforts in helping rebuild lives one person at a time, one family at a time, one day at a time, one minute at a time and sometimes one second at a time. I went from hopeless to hopeful with a future that is much happier at SVS. Thank you, SVS, for helping me build a better today and tomorrow."

LOOKING AHEAD

As we move ahead into FY23, we approach 25 years of serving survivors and our resolve is stronger than ever to advance our mission of serving survivors. In addition to our core functions, South Valley Services will expand community engagement and building, supportive services to reach more survivors, and our donor and volunteer network. We see a future that's brighter, more supportive, and more united than ever before: violence is unacceptable, and we all play a role in stopping it. We hope you'll join us in FY23.
